

In the claims:

1. (Currently Amended) A photography tent comprising:
a series of fabric panels arranged to form an enclosure, said fabric being a light weight, color corrected, translucent nylon material for diffusing light passing through said panels, thereby providing a bright internal stage to fully illuminate a subject and keep the occurrence of shadows to a minimum while photographing said subject and to facilitate the photographing of a said subject placed in said enclosure;

a series of flexible frames sewn into said fabric panels in a manner to allow the frames to cooperate to selectively support the tent in an expanded condition or collapse the tent into a flat condition;

an opening constructed in at least one of said panels to provide access to the expanded enclosure for a photographic device; wherein said enclosure, in its expanded condition provides an internal stage for the placement of subjects for photographing, said subjects being illuminated by light transmitted from at least one external source through said panels without color alteration and wherein said stage further comprises a removable floor panel constructed of rigid plastic material which is placed within the enclosure to support the subject for photographing

2. (Cancelled)

3. (Currently Amended) A photography tent, as described in claim 1, further comprising a fabric sweep panel constructed of ~~non-translucent~~ non-translucent material having a light absorbing color, said sweep being placed within the enclosure on the stage to provide a contrast to the subject.

4. (Original) A photography tent, as described in claim 1, further comprising a door constructed of a light weight, color

Please do not enter
GML
9/1/05